Background:

StudentIndex is a free classifieds website designed for students, by a student. Students sell items that they have collected while being at university or college. What makes StudentIndex different from other classifieds sites is that it actively "pushes" (i.e. notify social networks of its new listings) all listings out to popular social networks such as Twitter, Facebook, Tumblr, Delicious and many more. This benefits users because they receive more viewings and their items sell faster. A new ad listed on its site can expect to receive, on average, anywhere in the region of 50-80 unique viewings instantly because of technology that StudentIndex utilises.

Business growth: Launched website in August 2009. In a month, the website has had over 1000 hits.

Welcome to StudentIndex - So, how does it work?

Using StudentIndex couldn't be any simpler. Using our super quick posting system, your ad can be everywhere at once within minutes. You post the ad, we'll get the traffic so that you can sell your item faster.

Our promise to you: we'll continue to add great social sites on our system to further increase the viewing figures of your ads.

*BTW, you don't have to be a student to use StudentIndex :)

Post 1 Ad here... and within 5 mins ... gets posted to these popular social networks.

StudentIndex on how Flying Start has helped:

'FlyingStart has helped by providing a mentor who I can ask questions and seek advice. Without this professional help, it would be hard for me to progress and make my business grow the way I want it to.'
